INDIAN DANCE GIVEN AT FETE FOR BLIND

Tribal Rites of Arizona Hopis
Contrasted With the Steps of To-day.

PLACE FOUND FOR MINUET

Mrs. Glynn and Mayor Mitchell
Take Part in Hotel
Astor Affair.

Miss Winifred Holt scored another success last night in the "Fete Terpsychorienne" given in the ballroom of the Hotel Astor for the benefit of the New York Association for the Blind. For several seasons entertainments organized by Miss Holt have been given for the same object and always following some fad of the day. As dancing is the popular thing at the moment, Miss Holt in her latest effort selected something suggestive of the evolution of dancing in America from the primitive tribal rites of the Hopi Indians to the modern dance.

Before the dance Miss Holt entertained at dinner in her home, 14 East Seventy-eighth street. Mayor Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Martin H. Glynn, wife of the Governor, Mr. and Mrs. William Church Osborn and others later added her in receiving. There was no effort toward gaiety in the ballroom except for national, State and city flags, which were draped from the boxes of the grand tier. Many of the guests wore fancy dress costumes and the guests in the boxes and on the ballroom floor presented a particularly brilliant appearance.

The dance programme did not begin until 10 o'clock and the first number was the Hopi Indian snake dance. This was a faithful representation of the dance as seen by Mrs. Jean Dwight Franklin and her son, Dwight Franklin, in Arizona last year. The costumes worn by the dancers were reproduced from originals and some of them were brought from Arizona. The "Indians" circled about the kiosk, or clump of bushes, where were concealed the snakes (papier mache). Holding them in their mouths after having sprinkled them with sacred corn meal, the dancers circled about with jumps and starts to an accompaniment of a monotonous sort of chant and the sound of rattles.

Those who participated in this dance were aided in learning it by the motion pictures of the American Museum of Natural History. The dance was Mrs. Jean Dwight Franklin, Miss Augusta Lloyd, Dwight Franklin, Howard McCormick, Arundel Nichols, Charles F. Chapman, Enos Comstock, Thomas Larimore, George Mills, Robert Ingersoll Brown, Hubbard Kline, Conrad Mabie, Ellsworth Kolb, J. W. Perry, William W. Irwin, C. William Beebe, Alfred Gentch, Howard Smith, Walter Pawling and Edward De Witt.

Next came the stately minuet of Colonial days. Miss Angelica Schuyler Church in this dance wore a gown which belonged to her great-great-grandmother, who danced with Washington and Lafayette. Others in the minuet were Mrs. John Horne Auerbach, Mrs. John A. Dix, Mrs. Stuart Dunham, Mrs. James L. Miller, Mrs. Charles A. Van Rensselaer, Miss Eva Ingersoll Brown, Miss Constance Buel, Miss Kiesel, John A. Dix, Stuart Dunham, James E. Miller, Robert McKee, Gerald Onativia, Charles M. Post, Louis Treadwell and Mrs. W. W. McNaughton.

A crinoline lancers, such as might have been danced in Washington just after the close of the civil war, followed. The women all wore the elaborate fashions of that period as well as their crinolines. The men were costumed as officers of the Northern and Southern armies. Those in the set were Mrs. F. Ashton De Koster, Mrs. Halliburton, F. J. J. Mrs. J. Evans Mahan, Mrs. C. Wheaton Vaughan, Miss Gladys Endicott, Miss Louise Pitts, Miss Abby Morrison, Miss Caroline Weir, Charles E. Hubbard, David E. Crockett, Percival Dietrich, Francis H. Kinnicut, Nicholas P. Lennsen, Lyle Evans Mahan, Ernest B. Osborne and Henry Morgan Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Castle gave an exhibition of the maxixe, hesitation waltz, tango and some new steps. General dancing then followed.

The executive committee were J. Henry Alexander, Jr., Vivian Palmeri, G. Brette Glanzer, Seth B. French, Theron R. Strong, Chalmers Wood, Jr., Austin H. Fox, Dana Dunn, A. Lawrence Hooker, Paul Jacquet, Frederick H. Wesley, Harold Tappin, Lawrence Durant, Alfred Ely, Jr., E. Gilbert Schermerhorn, W. S. Grosbeck, Fowler, George Featherstone, H. Pratt, Henry Holt, Jr., Beche Brown, Stuart Field, Jr., Theodore A. Stenway, Walbridge S. Taft, Walter W. Stokes, Lewis G. Morris, E. Vail Stebbins, Seymour Johnson, Kenneth Boardman and William Baskins, Jr.

Given by Social Service Institute for Humanitarian Work.

The gold medal of the National Institute of Social Service was presented last night to Miss Winifred Holt, founder and secretary of the New York Association for the Blind, at the "Fete Terpsychorienne" in the Hotel Astor, which she arranged. SCULPTOR TONETTI RETRACTS.

League for Favoritism Charge.

Francois M. L. Tonetti, the sculptor who recently created a stir in the Architectural League of New York by the charge that the league was a "league for favoritism," has retracted his statement.

In the future a letter of apology bearing the sculptor's signature will be sent to every member of the league to whom Mr. Tonetti originally appeared in a circular letter to participate in a revolt against what he called "this scandalous condition."

At a recent meeting of the league, called to consider Mr. Tonetti's charges, the matter was discussed and a committee was appointed to look into the merits of the suggestion made by Mr. Tonetti that at future exhibitions no juror shall be permitted to exhibit, no
